Golconda Fort

The main residence of the Qutub Shahi kings was Golconda. Palace and mosque ruins, as well as a hilltop pavilion that stands around 130 metres high and provides a bird's-eye perspective of other structures, may all be found inside the inner fort. The fort is unquestionably one of India's most spectacular fortification complexes. It is located about 9 kms from Hussain Sagar Lake.

Qutub Shahi Tombs

These majestic monuments, built in honour of the deceased kings of Golconda, have weathered the test of time and the whims of nature. They are called Banjara Darwaza and are situated one kilometre north of Golconda Fort. They are magnificent works of exquisite architecture that serve as a constant reminder of the glory of the Golconda kings who are interred nearby. These tombs, which were constructed by the Qutub Shahis, are regarded as some of Hyderabad's oldest historical sites.

TIMINGS

9:30 AM - 4:30 PM

Hussain Sagar Lake

One of the largest free-standing Buddha statues in the entire world is situated picturesquely on a pedestal in the Hussain Sagar, a lake constructed by the Qutb Shahs. When illuminated at night, it is an extremely beautiful sight. One of the biggest man-made lakes in Asia is Hussain Sagar Lake. It links Secunderabad and Hyderabad, two twin cities. At the centre of the lake stands a large monolithic statue of the Lord Buddha.
